Gender and Sexual Development Program

The Gender and Sexual Development Program at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh of UPMC is a partnership between the Division of Pediatric Endocrinology and the Center for Adolescent and Young Adult Health (CAYAH). We provide care for children, adolescents and young adults (up to age 26) who are questioning their gender or sexual identities and provide gender-affirming care for transgender and nonbinary patients.

Questioning your gender identity?

Questioning your sexual orientation?

Services We Provide:

- LGBTQIA-friendly care
- Primary care services
- Hormone therapy
- Mental health therapy
- Social work services
- Gynecological care
- STD testing
- Nutrition services

Our goal is to support young people at all stages of the gender and sexual identity spectrum. Individuals do not need to be seeking medical interventions (medications) to make an appointment.
